

Branching Story Diagram

Use this diagram to plan the branches and choices of your story. If you are part of a team, your whole team should agree on the beginning and first choices. Then, split your team to work on those two branches and the next choices. Continue splitting your team to develop the story as needed. Share your plans so that everyone knows what to expect and everyone agrees.

